1 Assessment

- A thorough review of your current software development and delivery process, including requirements gathering, design, coding, testing, quality assurance, automation, operations support and onboarding.
- An evaluation is conducted for each phase to determine its effectiveness in terms of cost (including labor and overhead) and quality outcomes.

2 Advisory

Whether it's a gap analysis, SWOT analysis, or research data on your industry and competitors—we've got it all! We also build strategies and roadmaps that will ensure your success. We provide recommendations on how to improve each phase of SDLC based on strengths and weaknesses identified during the assessment process. Our business intelligence will help you make informed decisions.

5 About Us

Gevorg Airapetian
Founder of LoneStar Agile

Growing up in a war-torn country with a blockade and facing daily challenges to survive, I have learned the value of resourcefulness and determination at a young age. These early struggles shaped and inspired me to work harder and find creative ways to overcome the challenges. These same qualities have served me well in my career as an IT professional, where I have had to tackle a wide range of complex problems and find creative solutions from streamlining software delivery and operational processes to troubleshooting technical issues. I have consistently found ways to solve challenges in the IT field with my determination and resourcefulness. I bring this same approach to every project and am committed to delivering results for my clients.
